Hear the Waves in Tampa, Florida... NHCA's 31st Annual Conference Feb 16 - 18, 2006

Plan to come early and stay late. Wednesday (Feb. 15) pre-conference activities include the NHCA Foundation golf tourney and opportunities for HEAR Trak and other groups to meet. On Thursday, you are sure to find a workshop or two that you won't want to miss. Featured Workshops include: "Bettering your Business for Professional Service Organizations" and "Field Verification of Hearing Protection Devices"

Friday and Saturday will be busy with the core conference and Friday night event. Presentations on hearing protection include, "Effect of training modality on earplug attenuation," "Estimating noise-induced permanent threshold shift from audiometric shape," and "A high-tech hearing protector to maximize attenuation and speech understanding." Other topics will meet the needs of all levels and areas of hearing conservation issues. On the lighter side, (possibly of greatest interest!) our Friday Luncheon speaker, Dr. David Yager, will enlighten us to the world of Insect Hearing.

CAOHC is presenting a Course Director Workshop on Sunday, Feb. 19, so that you can take advantage of one trip to get all the hearing conservation training that can be fit into a 5-day period.

Call the NHCA office at 303.224.9022 for additional information. Make your hotel reservations at the Hyatt Regency Tampa by calling 1.813.225.1234 or 1.800.233.1234 - be sure to ask for the NHCA 2006 Conference rate.

See you in Tampa!
